

Oswald Shot; or, Kennedy

Kennedy's Accused Assassin Shot As Millions Witnessed

DALLAS, (UPI) — Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy, was himself shot and killed in vengeance Sunday by a self-appointed executioner who was an ardent admirer of the late Chief Executive. The shooting was witnessed by millions of grieving Americans.

OSWALD, 34, was being transferred under heavy guard from the city jail and "live" television cameras were trained on him when he was mortally wounded.

Jack Ruby, 32, portly, balding and "hot-tempered" operator of a Dallas strip-tease club slipped through a heavy security police guard and fired a single shot from a snubnose revolver into Oswald's chest just below the heart.

The pro-Castro, pro-Communist ex-Marine slumped to the floor, fatally wounded. He was rushed to Parkland Memorial Hospital where John Fitzgerald Kennedy died Friday of two bullet wounds in the brain and throat.

THE SHOOTING occurred shortly before 11:30 a.m. CST. Oswald died at 1:07 p.m. CST after 12 surgeons fought to save him on an operating table just 10 feet from the room in which the nation's 35th President died.

OSWALD SAID "absolutely nothing before or after he was shot," said Dallas Homicide Chief Will Fritz, doctors attending the dying man said he groaned during attempts to save his life, but uttered no last words.

The FBI will continue to investigate the assassination of President Kennedy, despite the death of its chief suspect, Lee Harvey Oswald, a Justice Department spokesman said Sunday.

"There is very strong evidence that Oswald was the President's assassin," the spokesman said. "But we do not consider the case closed just because Oswald himself has fallen victim to an assassin."

Johnson Lauds Kennedy; Studies Foreign Affairs

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — President Lyndon B. Johnson sadly paid tribute to his slain predecessor Sunday and then turned immediately to business by holding a high-level conference on Vietnam.

JOHNSON, who started his day with services at an Episcopal church near the capitol, accompanied Mrs. John F. Kennedy in a state procession that followed the late President's body from the White House to the Capitol rotunda.

After the eulogies, Johnson ceremonially placed a wreath of flowers at the end of the coffin. A few moments later, as a member of the honor guard carried the flowers and then, his head bowed, fingered a few of the flowers before turning away.

IMMEDIATELY after the ceremony at the rotunda, Johnson was whisked under motorcycle escort to the executive office building next to the White House. There he began taking a detailed look at the International situation.

Henry Cabot Lodge, U. S. ambassador to South Vietnam, waited for him at the office building. A few moments later, Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and John A. McCone, Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) director also arrived to meet with the President.

ALSO at the meeting was McGovern Bundy, White House National Security aide.

After the meeting, Lodge told newsmen he gave Johnson a "first hand report" on the situation in South Viet Nam and said the President "told me what his thoughts were" on the situation there.

LODGE SAID he was hopeful the new government in South Viet Nam would "step up the pace of the war" against the Communists.

Lodge also said that Johnson asked him not to submit his resignation, as ambassadors customarily do when a new President takes over. Lodge said he believed all other Ambassadors also were asked to remain on.

HE HIMSELF is planning an immediate return to his post in Saigon. He originally had been scheduled to meet with President Kennedy Sunday upon the late President's return from Dallas.

He told newsmen that although he and Kennedy had been on different sides in politics, "we were always good friends and the fact that we competed in politics never made the slightest difference."

Respects Given in Capitol Rotunda . . .

Millions Pay Homage to Kennedy Prior To Final Services Monday

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — John Fitzgerald Kennedy was given to the American people Sunday for their final homage.

To the muted cadence of muffled drums, the body of the martyred President was borne from the White House to the Capitol past 30,000 solemn Americans lining the procession route. There the flag draped coffin lay as thousands filed by in tribute.

THE BODY will lie in state within the closed casket until funeral services at noon Monday, followed by burial in Arlington National Cemetery on a hill overlooking the Potomac.

Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy, a veiled widow in black, personally relinquished her slain husband to the people. With five-year-old Caroline at her side, she walked to the bier, knelt and placed a reverent kiss on the casket.

MRS. KENNEDY'S farewell gesture climaxed an emotion wracked ritual that began with the procession up the Capital's Pennsylvania Avenue and ended with tributes in the domed rotunda from three dignitaries who served with the President during his brief 34 months in the White House.

Washington police estimated that 300,000 people, many from miles away, stood 10 to 20 deep along the route of the cortege on this chilly but brilliantly sunny November day. The last solemn journey from the White House to the Capitol took 45 emotional minutes.

SPONTANEOUS tributes were matched at the Capitol where, after the casket had been borne into the rotunda by six servicemen, three officials closely associated with the President delivered brief but moving eulogies.

"What moves some misguided wretch to do this horrible deed may never be known to us," said Chief Justice Earl Warren who was unaware then that Oswald had himself been slain.

SENATE Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, Mont., who served with the slain President in the Senate, said "A piece of his old of us said" the moment his old colleague was felled by the sniper's bullets.

"Yet, in death," Mansfield said, "He gave of himself . . . he gave that we might give of ourselves, that we might give to one another until there would be no room, no room at all, for the bigotry, the hatred, prejudice and the arrogance which converged in that moment of horror to strike him down."

Mrs. Kennedy, World Officials Will Follow President's Casket

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy will walk behind the casket of her slain husband today, in a funeral procession from the White House to a cathedral about a half-mile away, the White House announced Sunday.

President Johnson, Foreign Chiefs of State, former Presidents Eisenhower and Truman, and other dignitaries will walk behind Mrs. Kennedy and Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, the assassinated Chief Executive's brother.

AT NOON (EST) in St. Matthews Cathedral, a Pontiffal Requiem Mass will be celebrated by His Eminence Richard Cardinal Cushing, archbishop of Boston.

More than 50 nations are sending delegates to the funeral of President Kennedy. The delegates will include at least 22 presidents or prime ministers, three reigning monarchs and princes or princesses from nine countries.

Also attending from the Intermountain area will be Utah's Gov. George D. Clyde, Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie, Montana Gov. Tim Babcock and Wyoming Gov. Clifford Hansen.

FLYING TO WASHINGTON to attend the services will be President Hugh B. Brown of the First Presidency of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

The processions of dignitaries was led by French President Charles DeGaulle who arrived in Washington first. Arriving shortly after him was West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard, his foreign and defense ministers, and Willy Brandt, Mayor of West Berlin.

All nations of the Big Four will be represented. England is sending Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home, Labor party leader Harold Wilson. Prince Philip will represent the royal family in the absence of Queen Elizabeth, who is expecting a baby during the early part of the new year and isn't able to travel.

ARRIVING THIS MORNING in Washington is Soviet First Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan who will represent the Soviet Union.

Elder Gordon B. Hinckley to conduct memorial services.

Elder Hinckley Will Conduct Special Rites

BYU classes will be dismissed soon 10 a.m. to noon Monday. Television sets will be set up at 9 a.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse, in Smith Auditorium and the main purpose area of the Smith Family Living Center.

Elder Gordon B. Hinckley of the Council of the Twelve, church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, will conduct a special memorial service in honor of the late President Kennedy at 11 a.m. in the Smith Fieldhouse.

Y Wins Stadium Swan Song

The Old Y Bell rang for victory again Saturday afternoon as the Cougars upset the favored Colorado State Rams 24-20.

ONLY ABOUT 4,000 fans can say they saw the last football game to be played in the Cougar Stadium. It was a gloomy day all around with pre-game and halftime exercises centered around a tribute to the late President Kennedy. The day for the Cougars got progressively better as the Cats got their second win of the season.

It was Alan Robinson who led the Cougars offensively, gaining the most yardage and making the most points. Robinson was picked as the best all-around back on the team and proved it as he can run the ball 13 times for 148 yards, making two of the three Cougar touchdowns.

THE OTHER touchdown, the first of the game was made by Doran Merkle who also helped the statistics by gaining 86 yards on the ground.

BYU ran a ground game all the way, attempting only three passes making none.

COLORADO STATE kept up with the Cats almost all the way and threatened to take the lead on several occasions but in the fourth quarter Frank Baker put the damper on their hopes when he kicked a 28-yard field goal.

The game started as John Malarsie kicked off to CSU halfback Norman Burkett. Burkett ran it for 21 yards and started their drive but it was short lived and BYU took over.

ON THE THIRD PLAY from scrimmage Merkle ran through the right side of the line for a 42-yard touchdown. Frank Baker, BYU's kicking expert, made the extra point and the score was 7-0, Cougars.

CSU bounced back as Ken Hines took a handoff and ran through his right guard for 80 yards from the CSU twenty yard line. Quarterback John Christensen ran for the two points conversion.

The first quarter ended with the score CSU leading 8-7.

ON BYU'S SECOND first down of the second quarter Robinson plunged through the center spot from the CSU 38 and evaded all tacklers. Malarsie ran for the points after touchdown and made the score 15-8 for the Cougars.

Second half play started in much the same way the first one did. From the BYU 27-yard line Robinson ran 73 yards on a pitch-out and around the right end. The run was his best during the day as he twisted and turned, losing all of the defenders. The PAT was no good as Baker failed to get the ball between the posts.

CSU THEN moved the ball to the BYU two and on a quarterback sneak Tom Miller plunged into the end zone. Their attempt for the extra points also failed and the score remained Cougars 21 Rams 14.

In the fourth quarter the ball traded hands several times and the Cougars threatened with an other touchdown but on a fourth down thirteen yard play decided to try for the three point field goal Baker split the sprinkles and BYU went further ahead 24-14.

THE RAMS got their final score as John Christensen ran around the left end at the BYU 3. With a 24-20 lead, the Rams needed a touchdown to win.

They tried again late in the last

BYU students reacted with stunned horror to the news of President Kennedy's assassination. Teachers dismissed classes as the word spread across campus and students gathered to discuss it. Others stood silently waiting to read the special editions of the Universe.

BYU's Presidents Express Shock

President Ernest L. Wilkinson:

As Americans and as fellow human beings we share the sense of terrible shock and tragedy throughout our land. President Kennedy strove to serve his countrymen, and indeed, all mankind, to the utmost limit of his capacity and to the farthest horizon of his vision. We express our deepest sympathy to the Kennedy family, and may the good Lord bless President Lyndon B. Johnson and our beloved country in this hour of crisis as we face unafraid the awesome challenges of the future.

ASBYU President, Rich Rolapp:

One class intently listens to a radio report of the tragedy. A girl weeps with emotion as she walks across the campus. Another class drops to its knees in prayer. I am sure that all of us at BYU are united in a feeling of loss and sadness at the passing of a great American.

Gil Federber, senior: "It be-littles the people of the United States."

Phyllis Nelson, junior: "You lose your security. You feel like calling your parents."

Madeleine Gloor of Switzerland:

Sign-ups Start In Blood Drive

The big red question mark on the quad will reveal its question Monday. It signals the beginning of the annual blood drive and the question is "How much will you give?"

BYU students in past years have consistently topped the quota assigned to them by the county Red Cross which leads Utah County in total pints and percentages of total given.

THE THREE days of giving will be in the first part of December. Signups start Monday in three campus buildings from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

As in previous years there will be competition between housing units, departments and clubs for the three traveling trophies awarded annually.

The drive is being conducted by the Arnold Air Society of the AFROTC and Angel Flight.

Johnson Will Throw Weight Behind Kennedy's Program

WASHINGTON, (UPI)—President Johnson moves into the White House with a hard-won reputation as the most skillful Congressional leader in modern history.

NOW HE shapes his own program in Congress and perhaps reshapes the Kennedy program will be gauged against his record of more than 30 years in Federal service. During 23 years in Congress, he was sometimes a little to the Left, sometimes a little to the Right of the center of the Democratic party.

During three years as the late President Kennedy's Vice President, he was an unwavering backer of the more liberal Kennedy program.

WHILE Congressional leaders felt that it was too early to predict developments in Congress they believed that the new President would throw his weight behind the still unfinished Kennedy program.

He was no longer a Congressman from Texas, a Senator from Texas or leader of the Democrats in the Senate, but President of all the United States.

Political Meeting Set Monday Night By Senate YAF

Two meetings are scheduled Monday evening.

Walter F. Kempe, Utah State chairman for the Committee on Economic Freedom, will address the Young Americans for Freedom at 7:30 in 115 Knight Hall. He will discuss the "Lift Amendment," a controversial measure to lighten the income tax.

The ASBYU Senate's regular scheduled meeting at 7 p.m. in 72 Knight Bldg. will hear a State of the Studentbody by ASBYU President R. Rich Rolapp.
